SHILOH PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—The Philadelphia Athletics won the world's championship by taking the game from the New York Giants this afternoon to the score of 13 to 2. Ames, who started the game in the box for the Giants, threw the Giants' hopes to the four winds in the fourth inning when with two men on bases he threw first to Harry's bat and then to the field. The ball rolled into right field after Murphy and Davis scored. Then Harry went all the way home on Murray's wild return of the ball.

But it was in the seventh inning that the Athletics ran wild around the courses, scoring seven runs. They made a fair effort at Wiltsie's efforts to hold them. They hit almost everything offered and the Giants added to the comedy with costly errors. Even Marquard, who relieved Wiltsie when the home run was two-thirds completed in two scores on a wild pitch. Then Thomas got his first hit. The burlesque was ended when Thomas tried to steal second. Eight men faced Wiltsie in this half and six of them got hits.

To the spectators it seemed as if all the Athletics were scampering around the bases without fear of being caught. The crowd saw it was over and started to leave the grounds, singing and cheering. The Giants made one run in the first inning when Doyle scored after reaching second on double. He crossed the plate on Murphy's miff of Murray's fly. The Athletics evened the score in the third inning when Ames passed Thomas and Lord doubled in right. Thomas scoring. The lead of four runs secured by the Phillips in the seventh inning was too much for the Giants and with Bender pitching great ball the New Yorkers had little chance to repeat their sensational performances of yesterday by tying the score. Wiltsie, who relieved Ames in the fifth inning, appeared for the first time during the series.

First Inning.

New York—Devore rolled a ground ball to Bender and was out at first, after having two strikes called on him. Doyle drove the ball over the temporary fence in right field for two bases. It was the first ball pitched. Snodgrass lifted a high one which Lord

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—Jack Coombs, the Athletic pitcher, is in bed at his home here with serious internal injuries received in the sixth inning of yesterday's game, when he wrenched his intestines. Today his condition is much worse and his physician called in two other doctors. They succeeded in reducing the injury and say no operation will be necessary. Coombs, however, will be in bed for a week.

Myers drove a hard grounder over second base, but Collins made a beautiful pickup and set the runner at first. No runs, no hits, one error.

easy out on a hard grounder. Bender to Davis. Myers drove a line through the pitcher's box. Crandall went in to bat for Ames. Crandall was walked by Bender but not intentionally. Devore struck out. He had three balls and two strikes when called out by Connolly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Philadelphia—Oldring lifted a fly to Devore and set down. Collins bunted but Wiltsie fielded the ball to first ahead of the fleet second baseman. Baker was out at first. Merkle dropped the ball. DEALING WITH FACTS, NOT WITH SLANDERS

The Perpetual Office Seeker

The present political contest has progressed far enough now that the outlines of the Democratic-Progressive campaign begin to take tangible form.

In outlining the campaign, the Democratic-Progressive bosses have directed vilification, abuse and slander towards one man—Holm O. Bursum. They have centered everything on him in an effort to break down the head of the ticket.

But they have found that method a boomerang and now they are turning to several of the prominent Republican leaders, trying to dig up a few real issues and trying to make a pretense of fighting the campaign on its merits.

The Bursum attack has been the worst boomerang the Democratic bosses have had—except the land grab. They have seen Holm O. Bursum gaining votes every day. They have seen the madness, the abandon and the unlimited abuse of the attack against him begin to react and from now until November 7 it will make him votes.

In contrast to the fight centered against Bursum, the Republican party has dealt with the facts and the issues in this campaign and the Democrats have made no reply. They have discreetly remained silent on the questions of such great importance to the first state government.

They have been asked what they wanted to amend in the constitution that it should be made easier of amendment.

They have been asked what assurances they can give the people of New Mexico that the Thornton administration of incompetency, plunder and rascality, with its empty treasury, high tax rate and its deficit of $127,339.91, will not again be repeated in the first few years of administration, if they are placed in power.

They have been confronted with the record of the Republican administration of affairs, with the fact that we have over $500,000 in the treasury and no deficit, that we have spent $157,000 for good roads and that the roads are here to speak for themselves, that our educational institutions are in prosperous condition and that under the last Democratic regime they were wrecks and junks.

They have been asked to explain why under the Thornton regime they had educational institutions valued at not to exceed $250,000 and that we now have educational institutions under territorial management valued in excess of $2,000,000.

They have been confronted with the fact that the same gang of Democratic bosses, the same political methods, the same personal aims and objects that ran the Thornton administration, are now the chief motive powers in the Democratic party, and they have been asked to tell the people why the Democratic party is now more worthy of trust than in the days when it bankrupted New Mexico in less than four years.

They have been asked where they stand on the wool industry, which alone supports more than 30,000 people in the new state, and they have made no reply.

They have been shown that the greatest industrial strike in the history of England—and probably of the world—was for a LIVING WAGE, and that it took place in the name of the foreign cattle barons for whom W. C. McDonald, their candidate for governor, is the New Mexico manager.

They have been shown that the land in England is gone, that the skilled workmen can hardly exist, that England is the originator and today the only exponent of free trade and a landed aristocracy in the world.

They have been asked where they stand on the question of free trade and the protection of home industries and the paying of decent, respectable wages to the men who toil.

They have been shown that D. A. Grant of California, who owns the controlling stock in their chief newspaper organ, is the controlling factor in a concern which was fined $60,000 for bringing in cheap labor in Arizona because it would not pay the wages asked by the American workmen.

They have been shown that the public domain in Texas—the greatest land state of the Union—has been squandered by repeated Democratic administrations until today Texas is without public land worth anything, but is filled with great cattle ranches, and that only now is she awakening to the fact that she must give the farmer, the home maker and homesteader a share to occupy the land if she is to survive in the advancement and progress of the other states of the Union.

They have been shown that Don Feit Martinez lives in El Paso, Texas, the state that squandered her public land in such shameful manner and which today is trying to retrieve her error too late by offering every inducement possible to the big land owner to cut in the immense tracts and let the homesteader and farmer come in.

They have been asked repeatedly to explain why it was that a good road was never heard of until the Republican party began a propaganda and the Republican legislature of 1909 passed the first good roads legislation in New Mexico.

Issue after issue has been put squarely at the Democratic-Progressive gang of bosses and they have been asked to get out into the open and say where they stand—to put some kind of a ticket and platform into their newspaper organ and let the people of New Mexico know what they intend to do about it.

They have replied "robber," "thief," "vindication," at Holm O. Bursum. Is this all they have?

The Republican party stands on its record.

STUMP SPEAKERS GO TO TULAROSA TODAY

Meeting Replete With Enthusiasm and Good Will, In Striking Contrast to Democratic Meeting Week Ago.

(Special Telegram to Evening Herald)

Alamogordo, N. M., Oct. 26.—One of the greatest political rallies ever held in New Mexico was that in Alamogordo last night which was addressed by Holm O. Bursum, Republican candidate for governor, Hon. E. L. Medler, Hon. George Armijo and Judge A. B. Fall.

The rally was held in the courthouse in this city, which was packed to overflowing, between six and eight hundred people being present. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested. The speakers being cheered to the echo as they made telling points in favor of the Republican ticket. At least three times as many people were in attendance as were present at the Democratic meeting held a short while ago, and the reception accorded the speakers left no doubt of an overwhelming majority for Bursum and the entire Republican ticket in Otero county on October 7.

Mr. Bursum made the usual mainly straightforward talk to the people that has characterized his speeches throughout the campaign so far, and that has made a deep impression upon the hearers and convinced every reasonable man in the audience of the truth of his contentions. None of the "insurgent" members of congress for Wisconsin were at the station waiting to extend a welcoming hand to the president. Senator Stephenson, former Congressman Kuehne, former Governor Hoard and Congressman Kompe did the honors. The president was taken for a long auto ride through the city. Two little girls, wearing heavy sweatshirts, rode on a platform constructed over the hood of the presidential automobile. The platform was covered with flowers and there were two stuffed badgers, emblematic of the state, to keep the girls company. There were thousands of persons along the line of march and more than 12,000 stood around the courthouse to hear Mr. Taft's speech on peace and arbitration. They applauded frequently.

What May You Expect From Dan Grant's Candidate?

Dan Grant, Los Angeles millionaire, owner of seventy-five per cent of the stock of the informal Democratic controlling factor in Grant Brothers, a big contracting corporation which imports Yaqui Indians to do the work of honest American workmen and was ordered to pay $60,000 into the United States treasury for a glaring violation of the alien contract labor law, is now undertaking to depict to the voters of New Mexico whom they shall elect as their first governor. It would be instructive to say that Dan Grant violates the United States law and was fined $60,000. On no Dan Grant wouldn't do a thing like that. It was Grant Brothers that did it but the international scope hasn't yet been invented that could discover the difference between Dan Grant and Grant Brothers.

And who is Dan Grant's candidate for governor of New Mexico? He is none other than W. C. McDonald, manager of the Carrizo Castle Ranch company, a British corporation controlled by English money. McDonald is a British capitalist, manager of the El Capitan Live Stock company, another British corporation financed by British capital, representative in New Mexico of numerous other foreign capitalists, who stated in a public speech in Albuquerque that neither he nor any of his corporations hold an acre of the public land, and who was proven by the records of the land office in Santa Fe to have told a deliberate falsehood. W. C. McDonald is Dan Grant's candidate for governor of New Mexico.

Dan Grant, it is remembered, is not a resident of New Mexico. In California, where he lives, he is a harsh, stand-off Republican—bitterly opposed to Governor Hiram Johnson and all that he represents—a Bourbon of Bourbons—intimately identified with that embittered apostle of reaction and labor-union-haters, Harrison Grey Otis. He has told a deliberate falsehood. W. C. McDonald is Dan Grant's candidate for governor of New Mexico.

If Dan Grant ever in his life took a stand in politics that was not actuated by selfish motives, the news of it never reached this section of the country. Remember that W. C. McDonald is Dan Grant's candidate.
